IRON-CLAD STEAMERS.

NAVY DEPARTMENT
Washington February 20 1862

THE Navy Department will, until the 20th of March next, receive propositions for the construction and equipment of iron clad vessels for river harbor and coast defence

These vessels with the exception of those for the Mississippi river and its tributaries will be propelled by screws those for the Mississippi river and its tributaries by the propeller principle when necessary. The hulls will be either wholly of iron (which would be preferred) or of iron and wood combined, as the projector may consider most suitable for the object proposed but the parades and decks must be protected with an iron armament sufficient to resist the heaviest shot and shells

The vessels for the Mississippi river and its tributaries are not to draw more than six feet water when fully equipped and armored at which draft they are to be able to maintain a permanent speed of nine knots per hour in smooth still water, and carry sufficient coal in the bunkers for six days steaming at that speed

Their armament will consist of not less than three nine inch guns

The vessels for coast defence are not to draw more than twenty feet water when fully equipped and armed at which draft they are to be able to maintain a permanent speed of fifteen knots per hour at sea, and carry sufficient coal in the bunkers for twelve days steam at that speed Their armament will consist of one or two fifteen or twenty inch guns

The guns of the vessels for harbor and coast defence are to train to all points of the compass without change in the armored position

The propositions must state the number of vessels, subject to the election of the Department, which the party proposes to furnish complete in every respect embracing armour plating steam machinery and equipments of all kinds, ready for service exceptting only the ordinance and ordinance stores and provisions the proposition must be accompanied by descriptions specifications drawings and models of such character that the work could be executed from them

The place of delivery must be stated the time within which the vessel or vessels are to be completed and also the sum to be paid for each

It will be stipulated in the contract that one fifth the total amount will be retained by the Government until sixty days after the reception of the vessel in order to give it a trial the remaining payments being made with due regard to the proper performance and progress of the work, the contract will also embrace forfeitures for failure to perform the conditions specified

The bids must be accompanied by the guarantee required by law that, if a contract is awarded it will be promptly executed and the names of the parties who are to become the sureties in the amount of the face of the contract will also be stated

The Department will consider any other propositions that may be presented in which the draft of water above named is not exceeded

The Department will be at liberty to accept or reject any or all the propositions Mar 24 d3w

THE NEWYORK TRIBUNE.

LARGE PREMIUMS

TO OUR FRIENDS

Hitherto we have never offered any one a premium for helping to extend the circulation of THE TRIBUNE We have printed the cheapest newspaper considering the outlay by which it is produced, that was ever issued in any country selling it for little more than the cost of the white paper, but we employed no agents to canvass for subscribers, and have allowed no compensation (beyond a copy of the paper) to any of the thousands of generous friends who have annually taken care that the unusual number of copies of our several issues required in their respective neighborhoods should be at least maintained and if possible increased We have been giving no word of verbal thanks to these friends, but have on the less realized the fullness of our obligation for their earnest, unselfish painstaking personal efforts

We propose for the present season only—in view of the hardiness of the times and the fact that we are required to buy white paper somewhat cheaper than we have hitherto done or can hope to do after the close of the War—to make some small acknowledgment—not so much a recompense as a slight testimonial—to those friends who shall see fit to exert themselves to obtain subscriptions (whether original or renewals) to our Weekly and Semi Weekly edition We do not know that we can offer any thing of similar value more generally acceptable and useful than a Gold Pen of the best quality and finish We propose therefore to forward to each person who during the two months ensuing shall send us subscriptions and payments for THE TRIBUNE, as follows

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag, the aegis of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall tell to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and lite,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, Treason's shroud!

Those papers which complain of the censorship of the press allege that the enemy receives no information from the Northern press And yet one of these same complaining papers, in a number now before us, contains a full and minute description of the new iron-clad gunboat Galena, built at Mystic, Conn, and now receiving her armament at Brooklyn The enemy is notified of her precise strength and capacity —her draft of water, forward and aft—the strength of her armor and the manner of its application—the construction of her port-holes, pilot house, hatchways, skylights and smoke pipe—her engines, armaments, &c, &c Our rebel friends will know just where she can go and what she can do

Fort Pillow, before which Com Foote and Gen Pope have already appeared, is said to be the last place of defence above Memphis, and with its fall the city must surrender The fort is much nearer to Memphis than has generally been supposed—35 miles only intervening, according to the Tribune's statement If so, our fleet and army have gone down the Mississippi nearly 150 miles since the capture of Island No 10 It is said by another authority that there are two Forts Pillow—one within three miles of Memphis, and the other about 70 miles north The latter is probably the true point where Com Foote is now operating

Gen Banks is making regular advances on the flank of the enemy's Virginia army He occupied New Market on Thursday last, 18 miles southeast of Strasburg, and 45 miles west of Warrenton

McDowell will soon press hard upon the enemy's rear

Our flotilla is now workingits way up the Rappahannock towards Fredericksburg On the 14th the fleet shelled the rebels out of Urbana, and then proceeded to the village of Tappahannock, about 30 miles from the mouth of the river and nearly 50 below Fredericksburg, where they were met by large bodies of the citizens with white flags It was understood that Fredericksburg would be evacuated

The democracy of Lubec seem to be getting bravely over a violent attack of secesh which they experienced some twelve months since The Sentinel says of them

"The democrats of Lubec, in caucus assembled, declared in favor of supporting the National Administration in the measures at present adopted to suppress the rebellion but opposed the resolutions lately adopted by the Republican Legislature of this State"

One year ago they were opposed to all "coercive" measures to putting down the rebellion; they were opposed to the President s call for 75,000 men for that purpose Now they approve of the employment of 600 000 men, and the vigorous prosecution of the war Probably before another twelve month rolls around, they will approve of the Legislative resolves!

Since the 1st of January the Union forces have captured from the rebels over 600 siege guns and field pieces The artillery would equip a grand army, and when it is remembered what pains the rebels have had to procure these guns, the severity of the loss will be fully apparent. Many of these guns have been brought at a great expense from England, others have been cast in rebel foundries at Richmond and Norfolk, after great trouble in procuring iron and workmen Now, the rebels have to fall back upon their bell metal, for their money has pretty well given out, and it is so not safe to run the blockade now a days

A Key West letter of the 9th inst, states that information had been received that ten of the mortar vessels, with three steamers of Captain Porter's flotilla, had successfully run the gauntlet of the forts on the Mississippi, at night, without a shot being fired at them

The Lowell News states that a lady in that city, who has a son in the service of his country, on turning over her plate at breakfast on Fast Day, found $500 in gold as a present from him.

THE BATTLE OF PITTSBURG. One of the rebel prisoners stated to Captain Stoakdale of the steamer Horicon that the attack was made with 65,000 men, with a reserve of 35,000, and that they were told that Price and Van Dorn were at Memphis with their whole army, and would soon be in Corinth A large number of the rebel force were ninety-day men They were forced into service The rebel advance from Corinth was commenced nine days before the attack was made He said he had been nine days out from Corinth, and yet our folks were as careless as if they had been a party of pic-nickers, and knew nothing of the enemy's advance He was shot through the thigh, and died on the way down the river

On the Commodore Perry, which went to Cincinnati with a load of wounded, was a rebel major who had been wounded He states that before the fight Beauregard made a speech to his men to the following effect

The engagement now before them was to be the decisive one of the contest, if they lost it, all was lost; if they gained it, the prospect was bright They had not had any pay, and if they failed in this battle, would not get any, for their money would not be worth a cent, if they gained a victory, each man should have $1000

This promise it was, says the major, which nerved the rebel forces with such desperation and determination But it was all of no avail, and they have fled not to be coaxed into another fight

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, speaking of Beauregard's retreat, says

The rebels abandoned large quantities of property A mile or two out from Shiloah (the church in the edge of our lines where Beauregard had his headquarters) long trains of wagons—mostly loaded with provisions—got fast in the mud They abandoned them, but took care to go along before leaving, and break off all the tongues They seemed to imagine that that would serve, like spiking a gun, to disable it effectually The amount of provisions abandoned was immense

The rebels had evidently come to stay Flour was scattered over acres and acres on either side of the road, till in places it looked as if it had snowed flour and that the storm was heavier than had ever been seen before by the oldest inhabitant

There were some signs, too, of rapid retreat Monday evening In one place, sabres, muskets and accoutrements could be picked up in any quantity. Elsewhere through the woods and along the road, were abandoned blankets, clothes and arms of every description

☞ One hundred guns were fired by the citizens of Weymouth, Mass on Saturday, in honor of the passage of the act abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia

GENERAL SIGEL DANGEROUSLY ILL The St Louis Democrat of the 16th instant states what the country at large will be pained to hear—that Major General Sigel, recently returned from the Southern army, is lying dangerously ill at his residence in St Louis

☞ It is said there are two Forts Pillow on the Mississippi, one very near Memphis, and one from fifty to seventy miles above The latter is the one upon which Commodore Foote is operating

Prentice of the Louisville Journal says—

"If you hear a fellow speak of Union men as Abolitionists, you may set him down as a Knight of the Golden Circle"

THE VOICE OF MAINE ON EMANCIPATION The following are the resolutions sustaining the emancipation policy of the National Republican Administration, which passed both branches of the Legislature by large majorities

Resolves in Relation to Extending Pecuniary Aid to States Abolishing Slavery

WHEREAS, the President of the United States recently submitted to the consideration of Congress the following resolve

"Resolved, That the United States ought to co-operate with any State which may adopt a gradual abolishment of slavery, giving to such State pecuniary aid to be used by such State, in its discretion, to compensate for the inconveniences, public and private, produced by such system" —therefore

Resolved, That the people of Maine cordially approve the suggestion contained in the above proposition, and will cheerfully furnish their proportion of any sum required to effect the object contemplated by the President

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State be requested to vote for the speedy emancipation of all slaves in the District of Columbia, making reasonable and just compensation for the losses of loyal citizens resulting from such emancipation

ARRIVAL OF THE PURSER OF THE SUMTER The Boston Journal says—

The barque Harvest Home, which arrived at this port yesterday morning from the Mediterranean, was boarded below by Deputy Marshal Jones, and Thos T Tunstall, late United States Consul at Cadiz, and —— Myers, recently purser of the pirate Sumter, were found on board in irons, having been sent to this country by order of Mr De Long, the present United States Consul at Tangiers, Morocco,

The prisoners were released from irons by the Marshal, and kept simply on their parole until instructions should be received from Washington

The Portland Advertiser says there are believed to be $113,000,000 of untaxed stocks in Massachusetts, such as bank, insurance, manufacturing railroad and steamship, also savings bank and loan fund deposits

POPE VS BISHOP The Providence Journal seems to think that our Pope (the General) is more than a match for the Rebel Bishop (Polk)

The Richmond Examiner hints that it is about time to do away with Jeff Davis and get up a Committee of Public Safety

As the Bath Times well says—not a single formation, however small, and not a foot of soil conquered from the rebels by our loyal troops, has been retaken; and we hold every spot on which our troops have as yet suffered the slightest reverse—Big Bethel, Bull Run, Ball's Bluff, Lexington and Pittsburg Landing

The value of the war material captured at Island No 10 is estimated at three and a half millions of dollars. The transports are prize to the navy, and the gallant sailors in our gunboats will make a good thing out of the bloodless surrender

The printing press belonging to the New York World office is made up of 4,739 distinct pieces, weighs 60,000 pounds, is 21 feet high, 30 feet long, and it cost $80,000

☞ A large quantity of logs ran by this city on the main river, on Saturday night and Sunday morning We learn that they came from Olamon stream, where they had been rafted, and amounted to some 800,000 feet They belonged to Messrs. J M & R. Hopkins.

Several booms in Stillwater also broke Sunday morning, and quite a large amount of spruce lumber belonging to Messrs Nay, Davis & Co. James Walker, Eddy, Murphy &c, Foster & Moore, G W Pickering and others, was carried down river

It was reported yesterday that a quantity of logs had started adrift on the Kenduskeag above Six Miles Falls and lodging against the bridge at that place had started one end of it from its position The water is still rising in the river and streams, and there is now a smart freshet although we have, as yet, had no rain The Valley Avenue is submerged and the bridge near Morse & Co's mills has been loaded to keep the logs from pressing it off of the foundation A little rain would seriously damage a large amount of property along the banks of the stream

Supreme Judicial Court—April Term.

KENT, J PRESIDING

April 16th

John M Leonard vs City of Bangor This is a suit in which Plaintiff claimed $2000 for injuries sustained on the 4th of March, 1860, by falling into a hole about two feet long and six inches wide in a bridge or carriage way over the gutter on Centre St, just above the Baptist Vestry The bridge was made to afford vehicles a passage from the highway into the yard of the Walker house, and was used quite commonly by foot passengers to cross the gutter to the other side of the street Plaintiff was running to a fire in the neighborhood of his shop and sprained his ankle so severely that he has not yet recovered The suit is a novel one, and involves the question of the liability of the city in relation to such bridges, of which there are a large number

Defendants contended that they were not obliged to make all of the highway safe and convenient for travelers—that gutters were necessary to secure good roads, and that they were not intended for travel and that if any one placed structures over them which did not impede the highway travel nor the sidewalk travel the city was not liable for any injuries that might be sustained by reason of defect in them It was in proof that the city had never built them for the accommodation of private individuals with their funds, nor repaired them

The court ruled that private individuals and the city had a right to bridge the gutters, for such necessary purposes, though the city was under no obligation to make the gutters passable, but if they suffered them to be bridged they must keep them in repair so that they would be safe and convenient for travelers, according to Statutes

According to this law it is the duty of every citizen or owner of houses or other buildings having such bridges or carriage-ways, to keep them in repair and for the Street Commissioner to exercise the same supervision of them that he does over the sidewalks and streets, and after notifying private owners to repair immediately, to see that it is done, at the expense of the owner or have them removed

It was also contended by Defendants that Plaintiff was not in the exercise of ordinary care in running, although to a fire, and getting into a hole of which he knew

On Saturday morning a verdict of $200 was rendered for Plaintiff

FRESHET We learn from Mr Wiley, of Ross by a paper mill, that there is a great Freshet in the Sowadabscook stream in Hampden, and that fears are entertained of serious damage to property The last few days of sun and warm weather have rapidly melted the snow and ice and caused a rise in the streams generall

☞ The Lewiston Journal says that a son of Mr Elisha Rose of Greene, aged about 5 years, was drowned on Wednesday in the brook near Mr Rose's residence, which had been swollen by the melting snow The little fellow was out sliding and being absent from the house was missed by his mother, who instituted a search for him, and soon found the boy's cap and sled on the bank of the brook The alarm was given and his lifeless body soon found a short distance below where he had probably slipped in

"Prison Life at Richmond"

We have received from the publishing house of Geo W Childs, Philadelphia, a copy of an exceedingly interesting book, (for sale here by Hughes & Co,) being sketches of the experiences and sufferings of Lieut Wm C Harris of Col Baker's California regiment, taken prisoner at the disastrous affair at Ball's Bluff, and confined by the rebels in the famous or infamous Tobacco Warehouse at Richmond The sketches were nearly all written in the prison, and concealed by Lieut Harris in the lining of his overcoat To show the interesting character of the book, and the brutality of the rebels, we make a single extract

Although in October the treatment of the officers has improved, that of the privates remains the same. Two thousand eight hundred and thirty eight have been confined since the commencement of hostilities; and their condition in the upper stories of the warehouse is harrowing to the sternest heart. With the ill or for a bed, without straw, many without pantaloons, all with scant raiment, but with few blankets, whilst the keen air of mid-winter pierces through the ill-protected building—receiving half the ration of food allowed in the Federal army, covered with vermin, starved and shivering—they are crowded together in beds Regardless of life, dead to the dictates of humanity, their jailers see them die daily, apparently without sympathy, evidently without attempting to prevent mortality.

At ten o'clock they are furnished with breakfast, consisting of a small piece of cold beef and five ounces of bread; at seven P M. they receive about a half pint of soup and five ounces of bread, with rice occasionally in lieu of meat. They receive but two meals per day, and these of the poorest quality The rice is often wormy, the meat is cooked two days before consumed, and lies exposed in a trough in the yard, becoming covered with dust and ashes, and the juice being extracted by making soup for one meal before the meat is served, dry and hard, for the next

For two weeks the men have not been able to procure water or brooms with which to scrub the floor, and the dirt and bones are swept in one corner, it cannot be thrown from the window, the sentinel having orders to shoot any one who approaches it

Seven Federal prisoners have been shot dead by the sentinels for inadvertently leaning from the windows

They have been known to hunt for a bone from the pile of filth, and gnaw eagerly upon it There being but one hydrant in the yard, for the use of five hundred and fifty men, they are kept waiting for hours in line before being able to reach it, and the same buckets used for distributing meat and soup are furnished them for washing their bodies and clothes

One small stove is put into a room eighty feet long by fifty wide, and the men are forced to walk half the night to keep from freezing during the other half

Every day, from early morning till late at night, emaciated soldiers may be seen waiting longingly for the surplus bread and meat from the officers table It is a scene of piteous sadness when a steward brings forth a pan of food to distribute among them As he appears, every soldier's eye glares with a hungry look arms are reached forth beyond the sentry's musket, and each man jostles with his neighbor for a crust of bread, and crunches his share with eager ravenous haste

[Could there be a stronger picture drawn of the "Barbarism of Slavery" Contrast it with the humane treatment given by us to the rebel prisoners]

Fort Pulaski captured by our forces is the third recapture from the rebels It is fourteen miles from Savannah and there is deep water to the city which must fall within a few days

THE SUMTER The pirate steamer Sumter remained at Gibraltar March 26th, closely watched by the United States steamers Tuscarora and Kearsarge About fifteen more of the Sumter's crew had deserted, and gone on board the Tuscarora and Kearsarge

☞ It is stated on good authority that the family circle at the White House will in all probability soon receive an addition to its numbers replacing the one lately departed

THE DELAY AT FORT MACON The delay in the bombardment of Fort Macon is in consequence of the difficulty in getting heavy guns to the place where they are wanted

Reported Suspension of Rebel Editors—Reported Refusal of an Irish Brigade To Fight against the Union—The Yorktown Battle of Wednesday—Gallant Fighting of the Green Mountain Boys—Medical Organization for the Army—Gen. Banks's Advance upon the Rebels—Gen. Mitchell at Juba, Mis.—Beauregard Receiving Reinforcements.

NEW YORK, 19th

The Tribune's Washington despatch says that it is stated on the authority of intercepted letters from Richmond, that several editors have been hung for publishing intelligence which was contraband of war

A general order from the Adjutant General's office directs paymasters to recognize agents which States may under certain circumstances appoint to receive the pay of soldiers

The Fortress Monroe correspondent of the Herald states that deserters from the rebels report that a whole Irish Brigade refused to do duty in the rebel army at Yorktown, and were disarmed and sent to the rear

The correspondent of the Herald at Warwick Court House, states that our killed, wounded and missing in the Vermont Brigade on the 16th, is about 100 The attack was made by two companies of the Vermont 3d, under Lieut Whittemore After fording the stream up to their armpits, they drove a superior number of rebels from their rifle pits at the point of the bayonet While in the stream three rebel regiments opened on these two companies, but they moved steadily on, with thinned ranks and wet cartridges, and drove the rebels before them They were ordered to retreat, however, and did so, fighting step by step

Subsequently the Vermont 4th, Col Stoughton, and the Vermont 6th, Col Lord, made a brave but ineffectual attempt to pass the stream on the dam, but the enemy had the gun of his one gun battery trained particularly upon this point, and they were swept back by the combined fire of that gun and the enemy's rifles — There was considerable loss in the 6th, which was in advance

The Division General at this time ordered the fire to cease and our men slept on their arms in the positions they respectively held, and beyond a doubt the fight will be renewed to-day The loss of the enemy was severe The names of Lieut Whittemore who led the two companies of the 3d Vermont, and of Cols Lord and Stoughton of the 6th and 4th regiments, are in all mouths as the especial heroes of the day

BALTIMORE, 19th

The Norfolk Day Book of yesterday, in speculating on the objects of the mission of M Mercier, says it is an event fraught with grave signification It says it is most probable that the French monopoly of tobacco underlies the whole mystery, and believes it declares the popular determination in affirming that the rebel States will not tolerate any diplomacy which places them beyond the pale of the public law, and attempts in their waters on their very nationality

There was a very extensive fire in Norfolk on the night of the 17th It burned all day on the 18th

MONTREAL, 19th

The ship Shannon passed Farther Point yesterday, and is the first vessel from sea of the season

The memorable 19th is commemorated here by loyal citizens with great displays of flags as a token of their joy that the traitorous deeds of that shameful day which were designed by the conspirators of Baltimore to inaugurate secession and all its woes in Maryland, and to compass the destruction of the Federal capital have so signally failed.

WASHINGTON, 19th.

The act to reorganize and increase the efficiency of the Medical Department of the army, adds to the present corps ten Surgeons and Assistant Surgeons, twenty Medical Cadets, and as many Hospital Stewards as the Surgeon General may consider necessary The Surgeon General to be appointed under this act is to have the pay, rank and emoluments of a Brigadier General

There is to be one Assistant Surgeon General and one Medical Inspector General The latter is to have the supervision of all that relates to the sanitary condition of the army There are to be besides eight Medical Inspectors, charged with inspecting the sanitary condition of the transports, quarters and camps of the field and general hospitals The appointments are to be made by the President, either from the regular or volunteer Surgeons, with sole regard to qualifications

The naval appropriation bill contains an item of nearly $800,000 to pay for and finish the Stevens battery, the money not to be expended unless the Secretary of the Navy is of the opinion that the same will secure an efficient steam battery

The section appropriating $13,000,000 merely says it is to enable the Secretary to contract for iron clad steam vessels of war

The Post Office appropriation bill provides $1,000,000 for service of the California contract route, and repeals the acts requiring the Postmaster General, in causing the transportation of the mails by steamships, between the United States and foreign ports, or between any of our own ports, to give the preference to American over foreign steamships, when departing from the same port, for the same destination within three days of each other

The Postmaster General is authorized to establish a coast mail, not less than semi-weekly by steam vessels, between San Francisco and Crescent City, Cal, and including service at the intermediate ports, provided the sum to be paid for such service does not exceed $20,000 per annum.

The President has approved and signed the above named bills

SPARTA, Rockingham Co, Va, April 18th

General Banks's advance column reached here this morning, driving the enemy from the hill with artillery and cavalry charges Six thousand of Jackson's troops passed through the town last evening, and encamped a short distance beyond Last night it was currently reported that Jackson was to be largely reinforced

Between here and Stanton a body of our cavalry came upon two squadrons of Ashby's cavalry drawn up in line of battle. The latter suddenly broke ranks, and his artillery opened upon our advance Our cavalry in line of battle awaited for artillery, which arrived and scattered the rebels

Last night Ashby encamped near New Market General Banks occupied the town in force at 7 o'clock in the morning Ashby being threatened by our artillery, set fire to his camp, and retreated in great haste leaving three butchered beeves on the ground and doing what he never had done before—burning every small as well as large turnpike bridge south of New Market

A special despatch from Cairo to the Times says that General Mitchell is now at Juba, Mississippi, having burned the bridges across the Tennessee river at Decatur and Florence

Recent intelligence from Corinth confirms the reports concerning the magnitude of the enemy's force. Reinforcements for Beauregard were arriving at an unexampled rate He has now 100,000 men, and is fortifying Corinth, building intrenchments, and constructing an abattis! The rebels entertain no doubt of success next time.

CAIRO, 18th.

The steamers Minnehaha and Patten were fired into by the rebels yesterday while ascending the Tennessee river with troops Upon the former one man was killed and one severely wounded The troops on the Minnehaha landed and burned a row of wooden buildings on the bluffs, near which the firing originated

CHICAGO, 19th.

A special despatch to the Chicago Tribune, from Cairo, says General Sherman moved his division on Wednesday two miles farther into the interior, and after a sharp skirmish, in which the enemy were defeated with a loss of 50 or 60 killed and many wounded, he succeeded in maintaining his position

THE REBELS STILL OCCUPY PENSACOLA.

A portion of General McDowell's army day before yesterday marched from their vicinity of Warrenton Junction, upon Fredericksburg The distance was 19 or 20 miles, which it accomplished by seven o'clock, A M, yesterday Its progress was disputed by a rebel force of one regiment of Infantry, one of Cavalry and a battery of artillery, which attempted to make two distinct stands They were, however, driven across the Rappahannock after inflicting upon us the loss of 6 killed and 16 wounded, all of the cavalry, including Lieutenant Decker of the Harris Cavalry killed, Col Fitz Patrick wounded and a valuable scout named Britain badly wounded Colonel Bayard's horse was badly wounded under him Immediately after making their escape across the Rappahannock opposite Fredericksburg, the rebels applied the torch to the Bridge, thus delaying, temporarily, our progress into the town By this time, however, that obstacle is overcome It is not known what has been the loss of the rebels in the above skirmishing

A telegraphic despatch dated on the road between Fredericksburg and Aquia Creek, April 18th was received to-day It states that we occupied the suburbs of Fredericksburg, on the left bank of the Rappahannock at 7 o'clock — The troops under the immediate command of Brig Gen Augar, left Collett's Station yesterday, and made a forced march across the country of 26 miles, the advance being under Lieut Col Kilpatrick of the 2d New York The Ira Harris Cavalry drove in the enemy's outposts and charged and captured one of his camps — Lieut Decker of the 2d New York Cavalry was killed by the enemy in the charge The troops pushed on the next day At 2 o'clock in the morning the advance under Col Bayard of the 1st Pennsylvania Cavalry, was attacked by a body of Infantry and Cavalry, and had a hot skirmish, in which we left 5 men and 15 horses killed, and had 16 men wounded Several of the enemy were killed and wounded in the charge made on them by Col Bayard, but the number is not reported The Colonel had his horse shot four times The command then drove the enemy's forces, which fell back, without further resistance, which consisted of a regiment of Infantry, one of Cavalry and a battery of artillery, across the Rappahannock, but we were unable to save the bridges which were prepared for burning by having tar, shavings and light wood in the crib work, and which were fired as soon as the enemy crossed

The design of Gen McDowell to advance on Fredericksburg, was probably known to more than half a dozen persons in Washington, and they kept the matter secret The occupation of the suburbs of that town was the first news concerning it Our troops are now in full occupation

WASHINGTON, 20.

A private letter from an intelligent American recently in Paris, to a friend in this city, contains the following

"The naval battle in Hampton Roads between the Monitor and the Merrimac, is the all absorbing topic throughout Europe. The Emperor Napoleon has been heard to say that it is now settled that there is no navy in the world that could make head against iron-clad steamers.—This was a sufficiently obvious remark, perhaps, but it came with peculiar emphasis from the Emperor of the French, who has thousand frigates which could still directly fly at light [illegible]

NEW YORK, 20th

The Ellen S. Terry, from Newbern 17th and Hatteras 18th has arrived She sailed in company with the transport Hales for Fort Monroe, with despatches for General McClellan.

Hatteras Light was lighted on the 17th.

Four companies of the 8th Connecticut regiment had a skirmish on the 12th with a force of 150 rebels, who made a sortie from Fort Macon, and drove in our pickets After a sharp engagement the rebels were driven back to Fort Macon Capt Schauffler and one private of Co H were severely wounded. The rebels took four of their men into the fort, one of whom was supposed to be dead During the engagement Fort Macon fired seventy shots at the engaging forces

The building of fortifications are still going on, and great preparations are making for bombardment of Fort Macon Operations will be opened on the 21st with mortars and siege guns

The steamer Terry brings eleven bodies of dead soldiers, including Lieut Goodwin and Lewis Cobble of the Massachusetts 23d, and Lucius Morse of Connecticut, also a number of men from different regiments at Newbern, and $2,500,000 from soldiers for their families

The health of the troops is good

CHICAGO, 19

A special from Cairo to the Tribune says

When Gen Mitchell reached Decatur, Ala in his late bridge expedition, he took possession of the telegraph offices, and cut the wires, leaving only Decatur and Corinth in communication — Beauregard sent a message to Jeff Davis demanding reinforcements for Corinth, declaring that otherwise he could not hold the position Gen Mitchell promised the reinforcements

Important movements have taken place, the particulars of which we are not allowed to publish at present

At the latest dates the two armies at Pittsburg were nearing each other slowly

The bombardment of Fort Wright continues, participated in by the mortars and gunboats — The enemy reply vigorously, but as yet have done no damage There are no expectations of the reduction of the fort at present The present high stage of the river will prevent any co operation of the land forces.

Every house in Columbus is surrounded by water

The telegraph line from Cairo to Pittsburg has been carried away

At Cairo the river is now within a foot of the top of the levee Mound City is submerged.—The water is running into the lower stories of the hospitals and dwellings The Illinois Central railroad have discontinued running below Mound City, the track being submerged and carried away

ST LOUIS, 19th.

A special despatch to the Democrat dated Cairo 18th, says

A gentleman who has just arrived from Pittsburg reports that all the wounded have been taken away from that point

A skirmish took place at Savannah on Wednesday between a detachment of our cavalry and the rebel pickets which were posted uncomfortably near The rebels were routed, having 5 killed and 65 wounded

Refugees report that the rebels are fortifying at Lick Creek, half way to Corinth, and are strengthening their works at Corinth

Some of the Refugees state that trains were arriving at Corinth with fresh troops for the rebels, while others say they are sending off their stores preparatory to evacuating the place

Col John S Phelps, who performed so distinguished a part in the battle of Pea Ridge, has arrived here He will remain a few days and then proceed to Washington and take his seat in Congress

The steamer Imperial arrived here last night, bringing 440 sick and wounded, 107 being prisoners from Pittsburg This is the last of the wounded there

Brigadier General Ivanville has also arrived with 200 rebel prisoners from Island No 10 The Evansville, we are informed, takes her departure this morning, with the captives, for Prairie du Chien

The steamer Philadelphia, from Fort Pickens has arrived The most features of her news have been anticipated via Havana

Deserters are continually coming over from Pensacola The rebels have no evacuated the place but are moving their guns away The town is under martial law All citizens remaining are forced into the army Large fires are seen every night, and it is supposed the rebels are destroying their property

An expedition from Fort Pickens, April 1st, went to the east end of the island, and shelled some buildings occupied as storehouses by the rebel scattering the latter in every direction, and returned to Fort Pickens

Word is the name of the sutler who escaped from the rebels with $10,000 in gold He is a native of this city and arrived in the Philadelphia

Samuel Jones, the rebel commander at Pensacola has issued a proclamation threatening all idle persons with the gallows which he says will be in constant use after the 3d of April
